

There is a strange temporal convergence on the rise of ancient civilizations. Around 3000 BC, Sumer and Egypt were created. At that time, the civilizations of China, Mycenae, Hittites and the Phoenician cultures too. The Etruscans, the Trojans, the American Indian deities - the white bearded men... started in texts around 3 millennia BC. Similarly like the proto-Chinese culture of Yangshao, the Sumer writing, bronze era in the Aegean Sea, Menes in Egypt, hieroglyphs, Egyptian calendar and the famous Olmek or Toltec calendar.

Historians notice the emergence of strangely highly developed civilizations in these places. At the same time there is referred developing of sea navigation... Roman Janus, patron of all origins, was called the inventor of the ships. He was also called Bifrontis - someone who saw the old world and the new world ... Italus is the Italian name of Atlas

At that time something happens with the language of people, for example the protoplast of the language of Praindo-European has gone... Genetics add the great genomic change of the European continent. And that's all about 5,000 years ago...

We can probably understand that about 5 thousand years ago, something happened on Earth... Events about 5 ths. years ago, however we called them, were the beginning of the end of an era. Epoch of domination a large, highly-developed civilization. Worldwide. Logic indicates that the ancient cultures emerged from an older civilization.

The letters and stone monuments of history lead to the conclusion that the existence of a large world civilization, before those we know, was a fact. Large stone buildings and so-called. myths say it.

Ancient Hebrews midrashes date for this time the cataclysm of the Deluge, which changed not only the depths of the seas and oceans, but also the terrain, land borders, and the atmospheric and climatic conditions of the planet. We should not surprised when somebody discovers the giant skeletons of ancient animals. Everything was then weirdly big, including plants and animals, as much more oxygenated. Humanity probably lived in a real jurassic park.

Our ancestors used one language and they still had a much more developed so-called. sixth sense...Millions of tons of volcanic ashes in the atmosphere reduced and shortened life, cooled the planet and started the ice age... Ancient people repeated that the golden age has gone...